Maroons Spank William Penn To Snare Title

Gettysburg Dribblers Set District Record By Defeating Harrisburg Quintet 44-32 For Third Consecutive Championship; 1800 Fans Witness Clash

An old saying "what happens twice will happen thrice" held up Friday night when Coach George Forney's Gettysburg high school Maroons won their third straight District 3 PIAA basketball championship by "snowing under" William Penn high, of Harrisburg, before an over-flow crowd of approximately 1,800 fans on the York high court, 44-32.

Captain Ross Sachs, the Maroons' brilliant guard, won himself more acclaim with a dazzling all-round performance that kept the William Penn team on the short end of the score from start to finish. He was ably assisted by his teammates all of whom played stellar ball.

The Maroons will now clash with Hazleton high, District 11 champions, in the first of the inter-district playoffs next Tuesday. Hazleton won their district title Friday night by defeating Mahanoy township high, 50-29.

The site of Tuesday's game was to be decided at a meeting in Reading at 11 o'clock this morning. Representatives of Gettysburg and Hazleton high schools and District 3 and 11 committees conferred on the arrangements.

Set District Record

Friday's tilt marked the third straight time the Tigers and Maroons clashed for the district honors and the Forney-men are believed to have set a record in taking their third title in as many years. As far as could be learned today no other team ever won the title three times in succession.

Coach Forney's lads got off to a fast start and were never headed although the Gettysburg fans were given some anxious moments in the third quarter when play grew rough and the Tigers appeared set for a rally. However, the Forney-men came back in true championship style in the final round to regain a comfortable lead which they held until the final crack of the gun.

While the performance of Sachs was easily the highlight of the game, each of the other Maroon performers turned in nice performances.

Sharing scoring honors with Sachs, who bagged 14 tallies, was "Bud" Boehner who connected for 9 tallies while holding his opponent to a single goal.

Woodcock Checked

George Fair came through with seven tallies and turned in a fine job in keeping Captain Woodcock of the Tigers well in hand. Woodcock scored a pair of goals in each half and paced his team with 13 points, a point total he was seldom held to during the current campaign.

Don Wickerham pumped two goals and a foul through the hoop and played a nice game throughout.

Bobby March contributed a goal and a trio of fouls and was a speedy performer all the way.

Playing-manager Gaylord Fissel broke into the lineup during the first part of the third period to relieve Boehner, who had drawn his third foul, and landed a pair of important one-handed shots.

Except for four long shots from mid-court by Haas, Tiger guard, most of the scoring in Friday's game came on working the ball through for "layup" shots with the Maroons' stealing the honors.

Start Fast

The game was barely a minute old when Boehner tossed in a short stab and 20 seconds later Sachs looped a one-hander for the Maroons. Woodcock intercepted a pass and dribbled half the length of the floor to score on a layup but Boehner landed a difficult try from the side court. Sperring blew a foul shot and when Wickerham placed Gettysburg ahead 8-2 on a long shot from the side, "Vic" Emanuel's out-fall called for time after only three minutes of play.

Upon resumption of play Boehner was fouled. He converted the second of his two free throws. Fair missed a foul toss but March and Sachs each converted single throws as Penn again called time with the score 11-2 against them. Day replaced McFadden during the intermission. Woodcock tallied a short toss and added a foul before the period ended with Gettysburg out in front 11-5.

The Maroons gave their finest performance in the second period and threatened to make a rout of (Please Turn to Page 3)

DEFENSE CORPS TAKES LOYALTY, SERVICE OATH

With uplifted hands 63 Adams countyans stood in the court house Friday evening and took an oath to serve in Company 1A of the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps Auxiliary "Until Victory unless sooner discharged by proper authority."

The men, who will form Adams county's "home guard" in the protection of vital installations in event of emergency, were given their oath by Judge W. C. Sheely, chairman of the Adams County Council of Defense.

The oath was given after 60 enlisted men and three officers signed the official muster rolls in the presence of Col. John M. Shade of the state adjutant general's office and a gathering of friends and civic representatives.

Captain C. Arthur Brame, commanding Adams county's company of two platoons, six squads and a headquarters unit, was in charge of the exercises.

To Use Armory

The county company, which will not be uniformed by the state and will furnish all of their own equipment, will have the use of the state armory on West Confederate avenue. Colonel Shade announced. The armory has been unused for the greater part of the time since Adams county's company of the Pennsylvania National Guard was called into service two years ago.

Youngest member of the county company is 13-year-old Edgar S. Moser, 39 South street, who enlisted as a private and has been named company bugler. He served in that capacity at the ceremonies Friday evening sounding the call to the colors to open the exercises.

The colors were advanced by Sergeant Raymond Strohm, of the Gettysburg college R.O.T.C., and Donald Staub, 161 York street, who were the blue of the U. S. Navy in which he is serving. Carrying rifles as color guards were Albert Cardenti of the American Legion, in the uniform of that organization, and George N. Coshun, commander of the local camp of the Sons of Veterans, who were a blue uniform.

Many Donate Second Time To Red Cross

The Adams County Red Cross War Fund was increased today by $30 from an anonymous donor, who sent the money in addition to a previous donation because "when I made the first contribution, I thought it was just the regular roll call for membership. Now that I understand what the drive is for, I want to give an additional $10 for each member of my family."

The anonymous donor was not the only person in the county who gave only membership dues at first, but who is planning to give additional sums now that he has learned the need for the $18,700 being sought by the Red Cross, it was revealed today. At least one similar additional contribution will be received Monday it was stated.

Nearly one-third of the war fund has been collected so far, with the second week of the drive closing today. Donations overnight brought the total collected so far to $5,231.60.

County officials were looking forward today to large contributions from various industrial organizations. Included among the donations received this morning was $50 from the Orntanna Canning company.

Col. and Mrs. Edward J. Oliver gave $10. A $12 check was received from the Barlow Fire company and $10 was given by the Tuesday Afternoon bridge club.

AIR CORPS TO USE HUBER HALL AS CAFETERIA

The Army Air Corps will take over Huber Hall on the college campus and the college will take over three fraternity houses to be used as dormitories for the coeds who will be obliged to give up their rooms in the main women's dormitory, it was announced today by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of the college.

At the same time he stated that the college will reconstruct the large Huber hall dining room and equip it with new fixtures so that it may be used as a cafeteria by the Air Corps students who are in training at the college.

New Group April 1

The changes are to be completed by March 31, the college president said. On April 1 the second contingent of students is expected to arrive here to begin training similar to that being furnished the first group of the same size which came here by rail on the morning of March 3.

The first group has been using and will continue to use the Huber hall dining room while the changes are being made. After the additional men arrive in April, they will eat in two shifts, Dr. Hanson said.

Doctor Hanson said the three fraternity houses to be taken over by the college as quarters for the coeds leaving Huber hall have not yet been selected. Each will have a house-mother and will be operated under the same system now used at the off-campus houses — Auginbaugh Hall and Myrtle Terrace.

Use 3 Dormitories

When the Air Corps takes over Huber Hall on April 1, the three largest dormitories on the campus will be filled with soldiers—Old Dorm and McKnight Hall on the men's campus and Huber Hall, Stevens Hall on the Women's Division campus will continue to be used by women students, Doctor Hanson stated.

During this week, the college was known to have been negotiating with Luther I. Sachs for use of the former Trimmer store room on York street as a dining room for the soldiers. Those plans were said to have been dropped Friday.

Nazis Blocked Trying To Cut Encirclement

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, March 13 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared in a general order of the day dated March 9 that Allied forces under his command had beaten the enemy's attempt to break out of encirclement in Tunisia and that they would "push him back to the sea and to destruction."

Eisenhower's order of the day said:

"During the past three weeks the enemy has been attacking us in Tunisia in the center, in the north and in the south.

"Some of the fighting has been bitter and we have suffered losses, but the enemy has been once frustrated and twice defeated in his attempts to break the Allied ring encircling him.

"Possibly he will make further and desperate efforts, but I know that the troops of our field armies will, with the continued effective support of our Naval and Air forces, inexorably push him back to the sea and to destruction.

Clear Tunisia of Enemy

"I take this opportunity to express my pride in the inclusion of the Eighth army and the western desert air force in the Allied forces in North Africa, which I am so honored to command.

"These forces will continue to typify the unified purpose of the British, French and Americans and the unified purpose of our naval, air and ground contingents to force the Axis to unconditional surrender.

"I thank all ranks of the army, navy and air forces for their recent great effort.

"For the immediate future I know that each one of us has no other thought than to do his full duty and more in clearing Tunisia of the enemy."

446 Maroon Calls, 2 Hours

While the Maroon eagles were drubbing William Penn at York Friday night in the presence of a large delegation of home fans they had considerable "moral" support from the "home front."

As a public service to those who were unable to attend the game The Gettysburg Times relayed the score by quarters to those who elected to stay home.

446 telephone calls were flashed through the Times' telephone exchange in the first two hours, almost four calls a minute. Three members of the Times' staff were "on the run" to keep pace with the almost constant ringing of phone bells.

Because of this local interest in the Maroons The Gettysburg Times will render the same service next Tuesday night when the District 3 champions meet Hazleton high in the first game of the district playoffs.

GREATER ROLE FOR AIR POWER COMING IN WAR

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The war is entering a critical phase in which air-power bids fair to play a part far exceeding in importance anything that has gone before.

Looking back at such frightful aerial sieges as that of Britain it's hard to believe that the skies could unleash greater death and destruction. Yet we are on the verge of vast developments.

The air navies are rushing towards bombing operations which will be unprecedented in violence and size. At least the Allied forces are headed that way. The Luftwaffe is keeping remarkably quiet, as explained in yesterday's column, but it will be surprising if Hitler isn't able to fling a great fleet into the air when he feels that his crisis is at hand.

Giant Competitor

The reason for this increase in air importance lies in the fact, of course, that American and British industries finally have produced sufficient aerial striking power so that the Luftwaffe at last has a giant competitor. And that power now is pyramiding.

The most conclusive evidence of the turn of events lies in the terrific bombing offensive being conducted against western Europe and Germany by the Anglo-American forces based in Britain. As explained by British Air Secretary Sinclair in the House of Commons a couple of days ago, the Royal Air force alone has wrecked 2,000 German war factories, cut Nazi steel production by 1,250,000 tons annually, and driven a million or more Germans from shattered homes. This doesn't include the devastation wrought by the American air force.

We may expect this bombing to increase in intensity, for it is the forerunner of the eagerly awaited invasion of France by the Allies. Hitler's chief industries, bases and communications must be crippled. It would be massacre to try to put an army ashore from the English channel without this preparation and without providing an absolute umbrella of warplane protection for the landing.

Air Superiority in Africa

Reichsmarshal Goering reportedly has been in Rome conferring with Italian officials. It wouldn't be surprising if this were true, and the mission which would take the Nazi air chief to the Eternal City might be the threat of an Allied invasion of Italy as soon as the North African show is over. Here again the Anglo-American airfleet would break trail and must be met by the Luftwaffe.

Speaking of North Africa, Allied air superiority in Tunisia is playing a major part in operations which are swinging our way. And it was Allied air supremacy in Libya which was a vital factor in General Montgomery's historic victory over Rommel.

As soon as we have manhandled Der Fuehrer sufficiently we shall go all out against Japan. Here again it will be the air which will lead the way for an invasion that will clear Burma of the Japs and reopen the supply route to China. Then will come the blasting of Tokyo and other Japanese cities until the Mikado will have to quit to save his little island from being blown out of the sea.

We won't overlook that our air strength in the southwest Pacific permitted of the unprecedented victory over the Japs in the Bismarck sea. That warplane fleet is a major factor in maintaining superiority over the Japs in that strategic area.

Not Yet At Peak

So the call of the air is increasing, ly great in all the theatres of war. We are piling up vast strength, but we are far from the necessary peak. We need more and more and more if we are to shorten the conflict.

Destruction by air is far cheaper in Allied lives and equipment than destruction by our armies. A squadron of bombers can wipe out in a few hours what it might take an army months to destroy.

Sir Commodore H. N. Thornton, British air attaché in Washington, says super 1,000 plane raids on western Europe and Germany will be increased "when we get the planes." That's the story.

Navy Eases Rule On WAVES' Weddings

A new order by the United States Navy lifts the ban on marriages within the service and now members of the WAVES may wed Navy men and SPARS may marry Coast Guardsmen. The previous rule barring Navy wives from joining the WAVES and wives of Coast Guardsmen from becoming SPARS still stands, however.

The Navy is seeking recruits for both the WAVES and the SPARS in Adams county with the nearest recruiting station located at York. It is located in the post office building there and is open from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. The Navy seeks 40,000 women.

Boatswain's Mate W. G. Gutekunst of the York recruiting office was in Gettysburg Friday in the interest of enlisting prospective WAVES and SPARS.

ary 25 on a train enroute to Boca Grande. Upon his arrival, he walked the two blocks from the railroad station to a resort cottage at the exclusive Gasparilla inn. He went to bed immediately and, although he rallied twice and made progress, never fully recovered.

Worth 500 Million

Dr. H. S. Patterson, Morgan's personal physician who flew from New York to take charge of the sickroom, announced the passing of the man whose wealth once was estimated at $500,000,000.

The body will be taken to New York on a train leaving here late this afternoon.

Morgan had been in bed for more than a week before the outside world learned that he was ill. The first word came from his office at 23 Wall street in New York, where associates announced that he had been stricken and that they were concerned.

Son of the first John Pierpont Morgan who founded the famous banking firm in the 1890's, Morgan headed the firm through the first World war, the world depression of 1930's and in this second World war.

During the first World war, his bank handled for the Allies loans amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars and after the war floated billions of dollars in loans in Wall street for foreign governments.

Supported War Bonds

The United States Lend-Lease program took care of the Allies' most pressing needs in this war and bankers found their greatest usefulness in helping finance this government's bond issues.

It was on this subject that Morgan gave his last public statement issued September 18, 1942.

"Nowhere in these days," he said, "can a safer investment be found for savings than U. S. Government bonds and of all the issues the war savings bonds seem the most advantageous."

Time put its mark on the house of Morgan and on the banker, himself.

He was wounded by an assailant seeking to discourage his efforts in helping the Allies in the first World war; the well-guarded bank building at 23 Wall street was scarred by a mysterious blast in 1930.

Flare For Space

In 1933 a Senate investigation revealed that 20 partners in the firm held 167 directorships in 89 corporations which had total assets of 20 billion dollars, but Morgan associates later said many of the corporations were merely subsidiaries of one another.

Morgan resembled his father, weighing about 200 pounds, broad shoulders, heavy eyebrows, small eyes, large nose and the same tone of voice.

In later years he grew increasingly deaf and used a hearing device. His pleasures were yachting, raising flowers, playing backgammon, shooting grouse in Scotland. He shot grouse with King George VI.

One of Morgan's likes was plenty of room—big yachts, big automobiles. The ceiling in his office was three stories high. Once he had an English car made to order with a special top so he could sit in it without taking off his high silk hat.

PROMOTIONS IN TROOP 77 MADE AT SCOUT MEET

At a special ceremony Friday evening promotions and changes of officers were announced by community Boy Scout Troop 77 sponsored by the Lions and Rotary clubs. The ceremony, a part of the regular Friday night meeting of the troop, opened with Bugler Eddie Moser blowing "Assembly."

The Rev. Paul Leedy, Methodist pastor, conducted a brief inspirational service on the theme "I will do my best . . ." taken from the scout oath, after which the scouts repeated the scout oath and law and the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Scoutmaster Jack Cessna announced promotions and awarded the insignia of office to these scouts.

Star Scout Harvey M. White, Jr., was promoted to junior assistant scoutmaster. Harvey, who will receive his life award at the court of honor, April 5, will become the second in command in Troop 77, due to the absence of Assistant Scoutmasters Norman Cessna and Clayton Warman, both of whom are serving in the Army.

Patrol Leaders Change

The newly created office of troop chaplain will be filled by Second Class Scout Jimmy Slaybaugh. William Snyder has been promoted to troop scribe, a position made vacant by the promotion of Scout Slaybaugh. Scout Luis Quintanilla, a recent transfer from Troop 70, of Ardenstville, has been promoted to troop quartermaster.

Second Class Scout Sydney Poppay, Jr., was advanced to patrol leader of the Panther patrol, made up of Scouts from the western part of town. First Class Scout Eddie Moser will fill two offices: assistant patrol leader of the Panther patrol and troop bugler.

Scout Robert Schweizer is the new patrol leader of the Pine Tree patrol, which comprises scouts from the eastern section of town. His assistant patrol leader will be Kimon Mitchell.

Scoutmaster Talks

The leaders of the Eagle patrol, made up of scouts living near Round Top, remain unchanged. They are Herbert Sollenberger, patrol leader; and John Donnemyer, assistant patrol leader. Troop librarian and historian office remains unchanged, being filled by Harold Ditzler.

Scoutmaster Cessna concluded the ceremony with an explanation of the qualities considered when choosing a scout for any of the troop or patrol offices. He explained that a boy is chosen on the basis of merit and is carefully considered to make certain that he will fit well into the particular office to be filled.

CHAMBER OF FETE MAROONS

Gettysburg high school's high flying Maroons will be feted again this year by the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today by Mares Sherman, president of the organization.

While details as to the time and place of the dinner were still undecided the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors has voted to hold the affair, "to show the boys we are behind them 100 per cent and to show our appreciation of the great things they have done and are doing for the town."

"The boys are a wonderful group of young men," Mr. Sherman said, "and as such deserve a tribute from us and from the town."

Complete plans for the dinner will be announced in the near future after the naming of a committee by the Chamber to arrange for the affair.

ANTHONY EDEN COMES TO U.S. FOR WAR TALKS

By WADE WERNER

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who last year negotiated a 20-year alliance between his country and Soviet Russia, starts with President Roosevelt today a series of historic conferences designed to clear the way for meetings between all the United Nations on problems arising out of the war.

The dapper diplomat flew into Washington yesterday amid echoes of recent speeches stressing the need of a satisfactory understanding between the western democracies and Russia.

He brought with him one of Britain's outstanding experts on Russian problems—William Strang, assistant undersecretary of state in the Foreign office, who participated in the 1939 Franco-British-Soviet talks in Moscow.

Here and in London, the purpose of Eden's visit was seen as twofold: A general exchange of views with the President and his policy-making advisers, and a thorough exploration of the best means of preparing for meetings between all the United Nations governments for consideration of all aspects of the war and the problems arising out of it.

One of the difficulties to be faced in planning for such general United Nations conferences is the fact that not all of the United Nations are fighting both Germany and Japan. All of them could confer on the general war and postwar situation, but Russia, for instance, is not at war with Japan and would not be likely to participate in any discussion of specific problems involving the war with Nippon.

Both American and British observers expected Eden to touch on a wide variety of questions in his discussions here. Among them will be:

1. The general problem of emergency and postwar relief and rehabilitation.

2. Formation of some type of inter-Allied council to coordinate aims and resolve conflicts between various members of the United Nations. A case in point is the Polish-Russian dispute over postwar boundaries.

3. Britain's attitude toward reconstruction of its Far Eastern empire, including the future status of Hongkong and postwar plans for India.

4. The future of Africa, part of which has been lost by Italy.

5. The question of postwar air and naval bases in the Pacific, which the United States already has declared it does not want to transform into "an American lake," but does want to see made safe for all nations.

6. The policy to be pursued toward the vanquished; the problem of disarming defeated nations without paying the way for their future resurgence.

7. The all-important problem of harmonizing Russia's war aims with the aims of the western democracies.

the contest. Passing and shooting in dazzling fashion, the local warriors punctuated the Penn defense time and again for close shots.

Forge Ahead 20-7

Boehner opened the quarter by dribbling around Hall to score from beneath the hoop. Haas landed a shot from midcourt and Sachs dribbled the length of the court to score unmolested. Boehner netted a foul and Fair located the net from the side. Sachs again outsmarted his opponent to dribble through for a score to give Gettysburg a 20-7 advantage. Hall finally scored after taking the ball off the backboard and Sperring dropped a two-point shot from the center of the floor.

After Haas blew two free throws March tried twice on foul shots. Spahr replaced Wickerham and Taylor went in for Day. Hall and Woodcock missed successive fouls. McGlaughlin went in for Boehner with 20 seconds remaining. The period ended without further scoring with Gettysburg on top 22-11.

Not a goal was scored during the first four minutes of the third period as play grew rough. Boehner, Fair, Woodcock, Haas and Taylor landed free tosses in that order during the opening minutes. During the time-out Spahr replaced Boehner and was replaced by Ogden a few minutes later.

Day and Sperring landed long shots to cut Gettysburg's margin to 24-18. Fair flipped through a pretty one-hander. Woodcock got away for a layup toss and Sachs retaliated by dribbling in for another layup to give the locals a 28-20 advantage as the period ended.

Veterans Return

Fissel replaced Fair to open the last period as the latter had also drawn his third foul. Sperring opened the quarter with a long shot and Fissel landed a neat one-handed toss in the first half minute of play. Woodcock and Haas landed fouls and Fissel flipped in another one-hander after three minutes of play. McFadden broke into the scoring column with a foul and Bobby March outran his man to dribble through for a left-handed shot. Boehner and Fair returned to the game replacing Fissel and Ogden. Hall came in for the Tigers.

Woodcock converted two free throws and Sachs tossed one to make the score 35-27 with three minutes of play remaining. After Boehner blew two free tosses McFadden broke away for a close shot which was matched a few seconds later by a short heave by Fair. Haas and Sachs exchanged foul tosses and Taylor landed a short try. Sachs landed a foul with one minute and 25 seconds remaining. Wickerham tallied from underneath the hoop with a minute of play remaining and as the final gun was about to crack he landed the first of two fouls to wind up the game.

Fights Last Night

(By The AP)

New York—Jimmy Bivins, 177, outpointed Tami Mauriello, 187, New York (10).
Worcester, Mass.—Leo Sawicki, 147, Worcester, and Babe Synott, 150, Fall River, drew (8).
Washington—Buddy Walker, 189, Columbus, Ohio, outpointed Tony Musto, 199, Chicago (10).
San Diego, Calif.—Lloyd Marshall, 169½, Sacramento, knocked out Harvey Massey, 126½, New Orleans (8).

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, March 13 (AP)—By the time Barney Ross finishes what is laughably called his "furlough" we imagine he'll do a lot of thinking about one of Jimmy Walker's remarks last night. . . . "We're not going to make an individual hero out of you," said Jimmy. . . . "That's the most annoying existence in the world. You can't live it down for the rest of your life, and for the rest of your life you can't live up to it." . . . Barney has had to live up to his hero's role ever since he got back from Guadalcanal and a couple of times yesterday he looked as if he needed the Red Cross more than the Red Cross needed him. . . . It must take a lot of fortitude to go through those receptions, too.

BARNEY'S BLARNEY

Ross managed to get in a couple of pretty good plugs for sports during his "press conference," telling how badly the boys need sports equipment, even in the Solomons, and their sessions of "jawbone" betting on football and other games. . . . But his best wise crack of the day came when he dropped into the dressing room to congratulate Jimmy Bivins and someone told him the fight was $74,715. . . . Said Barney: "I wish I were getting the champion's end this evening."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

The Giants-Dodgers feud is on again. . . . When Eddie Brannick escorted the local scribbles to the Giants' Lakewood, New Jersey, training camp, New Jersey, a Brooklyn gagster wired him asking him to announce the signing of some Dodger players. Eddie obliged, but now he's threatening to send Branch Rickey a bill for "professional services." . . . Emil Von Eilling, NYU coach, figures a lot of good runners could be developed if board tracks were installed in parks and playgrounds. But he admits that'll have to be a post-war project. . . . Bill Closs, who will lead the Rice basketball team into the Garden Invitation tournament, led the South-west conference in season and single-game scoring, free throws for the season and one game, and field goals for one game. . . . Apparently every time Bill shoots for the basket he comes close.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Eddie T. Jones, Champaign-Urbana (Ill.) Courier: "Those top-heavy scores and successive lacerations the Maroons absorb may be the remedy Chicago needs. Perhaps the president of the university, one of these days will quit paying the dues and withdraw, permitting the Big 10 to become the Big 10 again and not just the big 10-tative."

SERVICE DEPT.

Rex Enright, last survivor of the South Carolina coaching staff has joined the Navy as a lieutenant (sgt). Going ahead of him were Navy Lieuts. Frank Johnson, Tatum Gressette, Charlie Treadaway and Ted Twomey, and Sterling Dupree, who defied tradition and joined the Army. . . . That's one college which ran out of coaches before running out of players. . . . Lieut. Bill Brannick, one of the fliers who blasted that Jap convoy bound for New Guinea, played halfback on Rice's Southwest championship football team in 1937. His brother, Bob, also a Rice footballer, is reported missing in action in Africa. . . . Phil Rizzuto's means of going places around the Norfolk Naval Station is a $75 jalopy, called the "Bucket of Bolts." . . . Fred Levy, Jr., co-owner of the Cleveland Rams who entered the Army last year as captain in the procurement section, has been promoted to major and shifted to the Air Corps at Dayton, Ohio.

71,000 More Enroll For Volunteer Work

Harrisburg, March 13 (AP)—The state Defense Council today reported an increase of 71,000 civilian volunteers during February, bringing the total to 794,365, a new high for Pennsylvania.

The council announced women comprise the bulk of the volunteers and also account for 13 per cent of the membership in the Citizens Defense corps. Air raid wardens continue as the largest group, numbering 206,083, including 22,000 women.

NAVY MATMEN PLACE FIVE IN FINAL MATCHES

By ROBERT LANE

Philadelphia, March 13 (AP)—A confident but cautious squad of Navy wrestlers, mindful that an old tournament jinx haunts the favorite in the closing matches, begins battling today to annex its first team title in the final round of the 39th annual Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling championships.

The favored midshipmen, with five finalists, apparently need only to go through the motions to win. Only team conceded even a mathematical chance to overtake the victory-swelled Navy grapplers is defending champion Penn State with three contestants in the finals.

But—

Face Old Jinx

Last year heavily-favored Pennsylvania entered the final round with five finalists. The Quakers appeared to be a "shoo-in" for the title. Far behind was State with three in the finals, yet the Nittany Lions staged a sensational upset and stole the trophy.

In 1941, experts said Penn had only to appear to win. When the points were tabulated Princeton and Yale deadlocked for first and Penn was third. And Penn hasn't been the only victim since the tournament started in 1905—just the most recent.

A saying among the coaches before the tourney begins is: "Tell me the favorite and I'll tell you what team won't win."

Luck also hit two individuals yesterday. Penn's blind grappler, Fred Barkovitch, through the luck of the draw, was matched with a strong Navy star, Bob Kitt, in the 136-pound preliminaries. Barkovitch was undefeated in 55 bouts, but Kitt won by a decision.

Forfeits Bout

Earlier, boils on his shoulders forced Warren E. Taylor, Princeton's 126-pound defending champion, to forfeit his first match to Howard Andrews of Syracuse. Taylor will not compete.

Clashing in the finals today are: 121 pounds, McConnell, Penn, and MacDonald, Navy; 128, Ridenour, Penn State, and Zackey, Lehigh; 136, Kitt, Navy, and Harry, Penn State; 145, Henson, Navy, and Crabtree, Penn State; 155, Almqvist, Cornell, and Ingwersen, Army; 165, Stockbridge, Lehigh, and Creel, Navy; 175, DiBattista, Penn, and James, Princeton; heavyweight, Swift, Navy, and Stanowicz, Army.

Flashes of Life

RATION-LESS

Los Angeles (AP)—Earl Harvey visited the detective bureau, reported the theft of his No. 2 ration book and departed.

The officers know he'll be back. He left his No. 1 ration book on their counter.

ANTI-CLIMAX

Oroville, Calif. (AP)—Just as the motion picture reached a climax power failure stopped the projection machine, leaving theater patrons wondering whether the hero returned to his wife or slipped away with the other woman in his life.

The customers became impatient. Finally Theater Manager Walter E. Tooley, in a loud voice, explained that the hero returned to his wife.

Then everybody went home.

OUT OF SEASON

Los Angeles (AP)—These burglars weren't season conscious. They broke into a clothing store and, unimpressed by the warm weather approaching, stole 40 fur coats.

TEASING DISPLAY

Chicago (AP)—Motorists stopped their cars and investigated when they saw pork loins, livers and sausage neatly stacked on the sidewalk on a west side street corner.

But the meat was not for sale, Traffic Policeman P. W. Jorgensen had to tell the scores of prospective customers. He was guarding the meat, which came from two barrels which had tumbled off a passing truck. The owner quickly discovered his loss.

Lanning, Baker Sign With Pirates

Pittsburgh, March 13 (AP)—Johnny Lanning, 31-year old right-handed pitcher, and Bill Baker, a catcher, have returned signed 1943 contracts, the Pittsburgh Pirates disclosed today.

Lanning, who came to the Bucs in 1939 from the Boston Braves, won six and lost eight last season. Baker has not been in a game for the Pirates since last July, when his left hand was broken by a pitched ball in an exhibition game.

Pitcher Ken Heintzelman notified the club he had been ordered to report next Wednesday at Jefferson Mo., for induction into the Army. He won eight and lost 11 for the Bucs last season.

Williamsport Drops From Baseball Loop

Williamsport, Pa., March 13 (AP)

—The Eastern Baseball league franchise of the Williamsport Grays will be turned over to the Elmira club Sunday, President William R. Walden, president of the Grays, announced.

Meeting to reconsider withdrawal from the league, the Grays board of directors last night abandoned plans to play baseball until after the war because of transportation problems.

Williamsport previously had agreed to the transfer to Elmira, whose old franchise is now held by Utica, a new club in the league. Eight holdover players were included in the deal.

HAZLETON NIPS MAHANAY TWP.; OTHER VICTORS

Philadelphia, March 13 (AP)—Hazleton high's strong basketball quintet grabbed the District 11 PIAA title last night, crushing Mahanoy township, 50-29, in the highlight of eight games played in the state for district championships.

The Mountaineers, perennially a threat in the PIAA scramble, now will meet Gettysburg high, which blasted William Penn high of Harrisburg, 44-32, for the District Three championship last night.

Westinghouse walloped Oliver high, 33-18, for the District Eight crown. Farrell whipped Erie East, 42-25, in District 10. Johnstown won over Altoona, 43-28, in District Six, the game marking the resumption of athletic relations between the two schools after a two-year lapse which followed a football game riot.

District 12 Champs

In the northeast, Clark's Summit turned back Dalton, 29-27, for the District 12 throne in the hardest fought contest of the night.

Milton whipped Mt. Carmel Township, 58-30, in a semi-final game in District four. Milton now will meet Sayre for the championship.

Bradford rolled up the biggest score of the district title contests by trouncing Brookville, 61-20.

Two district games will be played tonight, North Braddock meeting Ford City in District Seven, and Berwick tackling Carbondale for the District Two flag.

Lower Merion, driving for its third successive state crown, tangles with Chester in the District One title contest Tuesday night and Milton and Sayre clash on the same night in District Four.

Pairings now include Hazleton versus Gettysburg, Clark's Summit versus the District Two winners; Conemaugh Township and Johnstown, and Bradford and Farrell.

Indoor Track Season Will Close Tonight

New York, March 13 (AP)—As though the script had been prepared by a movie writer, the winners of all major mile runs this winter meet tonight to close the metropolitan indoor track season.

Poised for the start of the Columbus mile in the annual Knights of Columbus games where Glenn Cunningham once set the accepted indoor world record of 4:07.6 are: Jim Rafferty of New York, winner in the metropolitan AAU with a time of 4:17.8; Earl Mitchell of Indiana, 4:08.6 winner in the Millrose; Frank Dixon of New York university, Boston AA and national AAU king with times of 4:11.4 and 4:09.6; Gil Dodds of Boston, New York AC winner at 4:08.8; and Don Burnham of Dartmouth, IC-4A best with a 4:16.2 clocking.

Although Dodds has the fastest time of the winter and Dixon has been the most consistent, many of the railbirds expect Mitchell to triumph.

Saratoga Closes Track Until Victory

Albany, N. Y., March 13 (AP)—Saratoga, turfdom's top-notch thoroughbred racing track since Civil War days, is through until Victory.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey approved today an agreement by officials of New York's five tracks and the Racing commission to shift the famed upstate SPA plant's August meet to Aqueduct or Belmont in metropolitan New York to conserve automobile tires and gasoline.

The Governor also concurred in an agreement to close parking lots at the four metropolitan tracks, all of which are reachable by subway or train. The other tracks are Empire and Jamaica.

The Internal Revenue bureau in Pittsburgh has received a check for five cents—representing a quarterly payment on a 20-cent income tax. Collector Stanley Granger said the nickel check, like all other payments, must go through the hands of at least six clerks.

BARNEY ROSS GIVEN AWARD; BIVINS WINS

By SID FEDER

New York, March 13 (AP)—It probably sounds very funny, but a guy who didn't even have a glove on won a decision over a fellow who had to punch his way through dynamite in Madison Square Garden last night.

This may be very confusing, but that's exactly what happened—Corporal Barney Ross of the Marines, by just taking a bow, was the "hot-shot" for a sell-out gathering, while Jimmy Bivins, the Cleveland clouter, had to sweat the ears off Tami Mauriello to get even close to the pats on the back from the 19,982 turnout in the old Eighth Avenue abattoir this season.

This was because the little corporal came back to the Garden, where he fought most of his great fights on his way to winning the world welterweight, lightweight and junior welterweight championships a few years back. It was just as Ex-Mayor Jimmy Walker voted it for all concerned when he said, "All the neighbors are happy because little Barney has come home."

"Man of Year"

This was part of Jimmy's speech in presenting the Edward J. Neil memorial trophy in the Garden ring to the little corporal as boxing's "Man of the Year" for 1942. This honor was voted to Barney by the boxing writers for his job of knocking off 22 Japs while protecting three wounded buddies on Guadalcanal one night last November. And Ex-Mayor Jimmy explained just how all the folks felt when he added that it didn't matter whether Ross' post-office address was New York, where he did most of his big-league fighting or Chicago, where he lived most of his life, because he lived most of his life in the Garden, where he fought most of his great fights. What matters, said Walker, is that "it's just that you, Barney, will ever have a permanent residence in the heart of every sports fan in America."

MERCERSBURG TANKMEN WIN

Trenton, N. J., March 13 (AP)—Trenton high school and Mercersburg (Pa.) academy swam roughshod over its opposition last night to capture team titles in the 39th annual interscholastic swimming meet at the Trenton high pool.

Trenton tallied 45 points in the high school division, while Mercersburg, which won four of the eight titles in its class, registered 55 in the prep school competition.

Plainfield high school finished second to Trenton with 28 points and New York Military academy trailed Mercersburg with 24.

Prep school winners included: 100-yard breaststroke—B. H. Schmidt of Mercersburg; one minute, two and three tenths seconds.

220-yard freestyle—Jerry Kerschner of Mercersburg; two minutes, 16 seconds.

110-yard backstroke—Bob Kerper of Mercersburg; one minute, six and seven-tenths seconds.

150-yard medley relay—Mercersburg (Bill Schmidt, Bob Karper, Jerry Kerschner); one minute, 23.2 seconds.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir,

I have been in the Army of the U.S. for a little more than a month. After being called into service I was sent along with approximately a hundred others to Miami Beach, Fla., for what is known as basic training.

Our stay there lasted nearly four weeks and every one enjoyed himself despite the fact that he was classed as a "rookie."

A group of nearly two hundred of the many trainees at Miami Beach were sent to Presbyterian college here at Clinton, South Carolina, for further training in the Air Force. We have quite a bit of class work here along with drills and physical training.

This method of handling Air Force trainees is no doubt familiar to you since, as I understand it, Gettysburg college has been named in this group of colleges for training cadets.

I don't know if it is your policy to send newspapers to local men in the Armed Forces but would certainly appreciate and enjoy receiving the home paper and keeping up with the local news.

Thanking you, I am

Sincerely yours,
Pvt. George E. Noll,
Clinton,
South Carolina.

Dear Sir:

I am sure glad all you folks back home love to get the Times like we do down here in the south. This is a nice place and I love the army life. Thanks a million for sending the paper to me. Hope it catches up to me soon.

PVT. HERBERT HOUCK

I have been receiving the Times and am very glad to receive it. It lets us know of the things that are going on around that place they call Gettysburg.

Some of the boys like army life and some don't. For my part, I have not made up my mind yet, but I like it some. The weather down here is nice sometimes, and only sometimes, but we still have the Alabama sunshine, and cold winds.

PVT. ROBERT F. HILTY

I have been receiving the paper very regularly and sure look forward to receiving it. It keeps us up to date on the news from home. Just keep up the good work.

I've been receiving the Times and sure do enjoy reading it. Your paper sure is welcome in this camp. As you probably know the most of the boys who were inducted January 8 are here at Fort McClellan. The army life is sure swell, but the weather in Alabama doesn't agree with most of us. I believe the most of us like this life but we will take good old Pennsylvania as far as the weather goes.

PVT. DANIEL D. HOFFMAN

All of the above soldiers are members of Hut 15, 20th Training Bn., Co. C, 6th Regiment, Fort McClellan, Alabama.

Dear Sirs:

Since joining the Navy last April, 1942, I have been receiving the Gettysburg Times. This is the first response I have made.

I sincerely appreciate the Times, they mean so very much to me. I read about my family, my friends and all my pals who are in Uncle Sam's service.

Gene Sickles and I have been together ever since we entered boot camp at Norfolk, Virginia. Since then we have traveled many thousands miles together over land and sea.

Do to strict censorship regulations I can't tell of the experiences we have encountered since leaving Pearl Harbor six months ago. They have been many in number, both good and bad.

The Navy is doing a swell job out here. We won't let you down. "Keep us flying."

Sincerely,
SEAMAN JOHN E. BERGER

Dear Sir:

In one of your recent papers I read where you have been sending to every branch in the service except the Commandos, well, ever since November I have been receiving your paper in Camp Hood, Texas, and wish to inform you I'm now serving as a Commando here in Camp Hood, Texas, which is

Today's Talk
By George Matthew Adams

IN PRAISE OF CHARITY
In a recent address to the nation our President quoted those great Bible verses in praise of Charity. With the coming of greater Understanding, we inherit that finest of all achievements—charity for all!

One thing there is that maturity gains and that is mellowness. And it serves to filter the petty irritations and the insistent creaking of misunderstandings that seem ever to arise. "Charity suffereth long and is kind."

What are the insistent calls of life? From what depths can we measure soul or spiritual hunger? From what source is the mind able to draw accurate judgment upon another? Within the individual heart alone are the answers silently sealed. Therefore, charity for all!

Expert as educators have become in translating the languages of dead ages from strange characters left upon crude rocks and slabs, centuries and centuries ago, still no mind has ever been able to accurately translate the language of the heart. Though a universal language it is, its individual characters will forever remain directly personal to the one whose heart contains them. Through love, consideration, and charity, however, each of us may be able to translate bits here and there—sharing the joys of interpretation.

We are strange mixtures of idealism, spirit, and—earth! It takes a big nature to house them all into a harmonious whole. And great courage and control are necessary.

No one can know the individual battle that is daily waged within human hearts. How much kinder we would be, and with what a world of sympathy we would distribute our understanding—if we but always knew!

With charity for all ever in our consciousness, to what heights may each of us rise—lifting others up! Can there be a greater task in this business of life? "And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is Charity."

The sun—out from the blue sky—warms all.

Riding with Russell

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL, Member S. A. E.

One trouble with driving a car by ear is the possibility of landing on it.

Now that motorists are beginning to have experience with cars that have 50,000 or more miles to their credit, it is natural that these owners are having a taste of some of the less familiar problems. One that has fooled a lot of people is uneven compression in the cylinders. This is a feature of cylinder wear and one that may cause a thump or a skip which can't be extracted by the usual tune-up. You can have it with a bad valve, of course, but the kind that troubles so many motorists these days is simply a forerunner of old age. It's usually accompanied by high oil consumption and excessive crankcase dilution. A re-bore job is in the wind.

It May Be Serious
I have been taken to task by an experienced service man for making light of some of the noises which cars are wont to make. His criticism, however, is constructive and thus most welcome. Trouble symptoms are very similar to much that seems to go wrong with human beings, and it is often difficult to tell whether a pain here or an odd feeling there is the red flag of warning or just something that will disappear when we have other things to think about. The answer is to be as sure as possible. There is no place for alarm, but on the other hand let us not be too ready to pass symptoms off too lightly. An example of folly was cited by my informant who said that a clutch noise which was attributed to cold weather's effect on the pilot bearing turned out to be the forerunner of a complete clutch breakdown which cost the owner a pretty penny. What the service man feels we should stress is the fact that such waste at this time is definitely out.

Service men tell me that the average job is involving more parts, more labor and more time. One of them says that this is due to our gross negligence and that the war effort is being impeded by the growing demand for more and more parts which could have been saved through preventive service and sensible care. But surely some of the trouble is the natural result of many cars coming to the end of their rope mechanically. If some 7 million cars were taken off the road it is understood that they would be junked. This still leaves the majority of car owners clearly faced with the duty of seeing to it that they do not indulge in any neglect that will necessitate preventable repairs and replacements. Make no mistake about it.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:
"One reason so many engines are giving such poor mileage is because their manifold heat valve is frozen from rust. This is the valve which permits some exhaust heat to pre-heat the ingoing gas vapor. Heated mixture aids mileage when the engine is cold, lowers mileage when it is hot. These valves work under great difficulty. An old stunt that is effective in keeping such valves from rusting is to apply a mixture of kerosene and soda frequently. Use a squirt can so that the rust inhibitor will get right on the valve's shaft."

"If oil is working up around the distributor shaft the first question to ask is whether a heavier lube is needed. There is quite a difference in requirements for lubrication on this same part in various makes of cars. Then consider possibility that the felt retainer needs replacing. Most common is clogging of the oil return grooves in the shaft. These are likely to fill up with dirt and sludge."

How Does It Bulge?
With so many groups passing out suggestions on tire pressures it isn't any wonder that millions of motorists are either carrying tires too hard or too soft. There need be no mystery about this. Just drive to any service station that has alignment equipment and ask them to put a tire "bulge gauge" on your tires. This device is based on the principle that what counts toward tire life is not the amount of air in the tube but the amount of bulge of the sidewalls. You want to have some bulge but not too much. This gauge takes all the guess out of pressures and enables you to go ahead with your tire conservation program convinced that you are doing the job scientifically.

I've never been too sold on sealed cooling systems for the reason that they build up pressure within the system and encourage cylinder head gasket leakage. But if you believe in the idea then be sure that you check the rubber gasket in the pressure cap. It destroys the pressure effect should it rot or break.

A. Only if the work is done by a competent service man. It is important to remove the water pump on your car before pressure flushing, and it would be more effective to withdraw the water distribution tube in the block. In fact a new one may be needed.

Hold Two Soldiers For Attack, Theft

Fort Dix, N. J., March 13 (AP)—Lieut. Col. Lewis R. Sussman, Fort Provost Marshal, said Thursday that two soldiers, Edward M. Shields, 25, of Louisville, Ky., and Basil M. Ward, 21, of Oakland, Calif., were being held in the post guard house in connection with the March 4 beating and robbing of F. George Furth, 54, of Moorestown.

Furth, a deputy sheriff and former sheriff of Burlington county, had said he was beaten and robbed of $20 and his automobile by two young men in soldiers' uniforms shortly after he picked them up in Mt. Holly.

Sussman said Shields and Ward would be arraigned before him soon and would be given a military trial. He said Burlington county prosecutor David Lichtenhal had charged them with robbery and assault and battery.

The condition of Furth, who had been removed to the Camden hospital for treatment of a skull fracture, was reported as good.

Isolation Island

Chapter 11

The sky to the east was awash with a thin milky light as Landa and Jim came down the path from the hacienda and walked toward the beach.

The path threaded upward for a few paces to a knoll and then fell off abruptly to the white beach. Before them spread the Pacific. In the hazy background rose the brown cliffs of the mainland. The Sea Bat was riding quietly at anchor halfway across the channel.

"Looks like you won't need your sea legs this morning, sailor," Jim laughed as he pushed the dinghy toward the water's edge. "It's calm as a millpond."

"And if it weren't I suppose you think because I'm a girl I'd turn sissy and make you bring me back about the middle of the morning?" Landa smiled back at him.

"I was just thinking that after all that delicious breakfast Maria fixed for us even a good sailor might have regrets if the sea were very rough."

"Speak for yourself, Mr. Blair. I've never been seasick in my life. That's why Uncle Mike used to call me Neptune's Daughter."

"Well, Miss Neptune, how's to hop in there and man the oars while I push this battlewagon through the surf?"

When the dinghy bumped gently against the side of the Sea Bat, Cass Wilson, one of Jim's divers, was already uncoiling a rope ladder and lowering it over the side. Jim sent Landa up the ladder first and quickly followed.

"This is Miss Morrison, Cass Wilson," Jim said when the three of them stood on the deck.

The young blond man showed an even row of teeth as he acknowledged the introduction.

"You sure you brought the boat exactly to the position we charted out last night?" Jim asked him. "You can check it, boss," Cass said cheerily. "And Jack's down now."

Jim lead Landa across the white scrubbed deck to a small dark man wearing a set of head-phones pressed to his ears and keeping a watchful eye on the thumping air compressor. "Here we have none other than Fuzzy Fields, the guy who holds our lives in the palm of his hand."

The dark man nodded briefly, never taking his eyes from the steady stream of bubbles that were breaking on the surface of the water twenty feet out from the boat.

"See those bubbles?" Jim pointed. "Those are a diver's shadow. We follow those to know where he's working and also we know as long as the bubbles keep coming, he's okay. The minute the bubbles stop we know he's in trouble. Something has fouled his air line and he's had to close his outlet valve to keep what little air he has in his suit. When that happens, it means he has just eight minutes of life left."

The dark man started speaking into a transmitter. "You can talk to the diver?" Landa's lifelong love of the sea and all things connected with it shone from her eyes.

"Yes, he has a telephone head set in his suit and he keeps in constant touch with Fuzzy on the progress he is making. We'll be bringing him up in a few minutes now and Cass will go down. The boys can't work long in water this deep. Then, too, we have to bring them up slowly so they won't get the bends." He looked back at Cass Wilson. "How long's Jack been down?"

Wilson glanced at his watch before he answered. "Forty-three minutes."
